We hereby collaborate to build sustainable peace in alignment with the vision, mission, and universal principles and shared values as mentioned below:

Background

The first party is Global Peace Foundation India, an international non-sectarian, non-partisan, nonprofit organization whose headquarters is in Washington, D.C., and the India chapter is in New Delhi. The organization works for peacebuilding, social welfare, and community development, with the vision of 'One Family Under God.' The second party is Dev Samaj College of Education for Women, Ferozpur City, Punjab, India.

Purpose

The collaboration aims to recognize and establish a Youth Peace Club at the institute.

Roles and responsibilities

- The institute will ensure the formation of a Youth Peace Club under their supervision.
- The institute will permit the students to conduct monthly activities under the banner of the Youth Peace Club.
- The institute will allot a faculty coordinator to guide the members of the Youth Peace Club.
- The student members will submit a proposal during the first week of the month and a report before the last day of the month by filling out an online form provided by Global Peace Foundation India.
- Global Peace Foundation India will issue the logo and social media username of the Youth Peace Club.
- Global Peace Foundation India will provide training to the student members of the Youth Peace Club regarding its functioning, types of activities, and methods of resolution.

- Global Peace Foundation India will connect the student members of the Youth Peace Club with its partners for training and helping the club members with their initiatives.
- Global Peace Foundation India will present the annual certificate, letter of recommendation to the club's office bearers, summer, spring, autumn, and winter internship opportunity to the members, and preference for the youth exchange programs.
